How to Buy

At Unico we understand you have a choice in how you make purchasing decisions and how you like to do business. For this reason, we provide multiple convenient ways to purchase our products.

Wholesale HVAC distributors have the option to buy directly from the Unico website or through email to our Unico order desk. Unico has wholesale distributor partnerships throughout North America that can help contractors select, purchase and pick-up Unico products.

Many contractors have long standing relationships with Unico distributors, and as a Unico contractor they can purchase the product through their local distributor or purchase direct via the Unico website. Often the decision is influenced by inventory and lead times. Trade professionals can also use the Unico e-commerce site to select, price and save Unico projects.

End users have the option of working with their local Unico contractor/installer or purchasing via the Unico website. An end user should be aware that local regulations and ordinances often require a licensed installer and local codes be adhered to during installation. Unico Preferred Contractors (UPCs) are trained and licensed to size and install Unico products. As an end user, if you are considering adding Unico to your home, we are here to help you select a UPC and walk you through the designing and purchasing process.

Services

Design Services

If you have a project that needs design assistance, we offer a free service which includes a System Design and an estimated Materials list. All you need to do is submit your plans and our Design team will contact you for more information.

- In order to streamline your request, we have a web-based form to expedite your request.
- Upon submittal of the Load Calculation Design Form, an e-mail defining the case number for your project will be sent to you.

SEND US YOUR PLANS

Plans submitted for Unico System Design & Layout are preferred to be received electronically. This allows for a quicker turnaround time on your design project. Email your project plans to Design Plans.

- In addition, a room-by-room heat loss/heat gain calculation is required for our designs.
- If opting to send hard copies of your drawings, please mail to:

Unico Inc.
System Design Services
1120 Intagliata Drive
Arnold, MO 63010
Attn: Design Services Department

AUTOCAD (PREFERRED FORMAT)

Submissions should include each floor in a separate file, an elevation view, and a window schedule.
Plan drawings are accepted in the following formats:

- PDF: Same format submission as AutoCAD
- WrightSoft: Entire file should be submitted

Unico, Inc. reserves the right to use our design of your plans in our marketing materials. Unico makes no claims that the information provided to us is correct or complete. It is the responsibility of the installing contractor, design engineer, or architect to verify the design conditions and performance. Thank you for your support!

Unico University

Being a business owner and HVAC professional takes up a lot of your time. Staying up-to-date with the latest product improvements and industry trends can be a daunting challenge. That's why we set up Unico University as your "one-stop-shop" for all things Unico. Unico University offers a choice of three types of training programs to get you on board and help you keep informed about new installation innovations and methods: Online, Field, and Factory trainings.

Online Training

Unico offers online courses on the basics of the Unico System. This is a great way to familiarize yourself with the Unico System, it's innovative components, and gain insight on how installing the Unico System can help your business grow.

Field Training

Unico also offers several training locations around the country which are conducted by our local Unico representatives. Though not quite as immersive as Unico University In-Factory Training, you and your employees will gain a comprehensive understanding of the Unico System and proper installations techniques.

2-1/2 Day Factory Training

Hosted at the Unico factory in St. Louis, this immersive, in-person training occurs once a month and includes demonstrations, hands-on instruction, and includes a tour of the factory. Unico trainer, Jason Church, will cover everything you need to know about the Unico System and iSeries Outdoor Inverter Unit, including start-up, layout, design and troubleshooting. Unico provides lodging and lunch—you only need cover your cost for travel to St. Louis.

To view upcoming training classes, please visit www.unicosystem.com/training
